Six More Weeks

A Kentucky Transportation Cabinet truck plows off the roadway between Campbellsburg and New Castle Monday after heavy accumulation Sunday night and Monday morning.

With another round of winter weather, Henry County and the surrounding region saw totals Monday ranging from 3-8 inches of snow accumulation. At the time of press, Henry County is expected to have another bout of rain, freezing rain and possible snow hit the area Tuesday night.

Kentucky Transportation Cabinet spokeswoman for District

5, Andrea Clifford said rain negates most preparatory work crews can do.

“We have received part of an order for 21,000 more tons of salt and the rest is on its way,” said Clifford. “Henry County kind of lucked out this time with Trimble as they are usually our higher accumulation areas. We are expecting rain first then freezing rain so putting brine on the road wouldn’t do much it good. The rain would just washed it away.”

The salt residue left from what crews laid down Sunday night may keep ice from sticking to road surfaces, Clifford said.

“We have seven trucks that plow for snow and ice. Two of those are contract trucks,” Clifford said. “We do 492 lane miles in Henry County, not counting the interstate.”

For the 2013-2014 winter, the KYTC maintenance crew in Henry County has used 2,100 tons of salt and 12,305 gallons of calcium chlo-ride through January 31, 2014. For the snow event that started Sunday afternoon, the crew used 200 tons of salt and 800 gallons of calcium chloride. Bringing totals to 2,300 tons of salt and 13,105 gallons of calcium chloride used so far.

Henry County Road Department Director Glenn Baxter said the county road crew used 50-60 tons of cinder/salt mix Monday morning on 200 miles of county roads.

A jury in Henry County District Court acquitted Bob and Ann Cook in a county ordinance case spanning five years with a possible 365 violations.

Years of paperwork with motions for dismissal on both sides, complaints filed with the state over Henry County’s building and zoning permit process and numerous continuances have made for an exorbitant legal process.

The Cooks moved into a temporary dwelling while constructing a house on Scobie Lane, which Henry Eminence Elementary students game their way into math proficiency with learning software and a little fun.

Using the DreamBox math app on iPads, students create a character, an avatar, and navigate through a fictional landscape of fairies, pirates, dinosaurs and animal eye candy with individual math games tailored to their abilities. The games challenge each student’s grasp of mathematics, customized and measured individually, in order for them to take it to the next level of learning.

The software teaches students common core state standards like, subtraction, counting, identifying numbers in multiples of ten, and for students advancing at their own pace, three digit addition. The addition of Dreambox in the classroom has only

Bonus plan ordinance created for New Castle

BY MELISSA BLANKENSHIP
publisher@hclocal.com

Employees in the city of New Castle have received bonuses in the past, but now there will be an ordinance in place to structure those year-end and anniversary bonuses.

“It was okay that we had given bonuses. It wasn’t illegal,” said Mayor Denny Benham. “We just didn’t have an ordinance that addressed it.”

The proposed ordinance, which had a first reading at

Monday night’s commission meeting, amends the city’s personnel code to include year-end bonuses to be given on or about Dec. 1, and creates an employee recognition program that will reward full-time employees on landmark employment anniversaries.

Year-end bonuses of money or gifts up to $500 in value can be awarded to full-time employees, while part-time employees can receive money or gifts up to $100 in value. The employee recognition program will award full-time employees with a bonus of $75 after five years of service, $100 after 10 years, then increase in increments of $50 for each five years of service after that.

Commissioners were in favor of the plan, which was first discussed at last month’s meeting. City attorney Joe Yates modeled the ordinance from a similar one in place in the city of Eminence.

“I think it’s an incentive for employees, knowing they will get something for staying on,” said Commissioner

Linda Golden.

In other business:

- The city conducted the second reading of an ordinance that approved the lease for financing of a fire-truck. The amount for the truck after financing will be $120,594, which the fire department will pay. The truck should be ready for use by March 1.

multiplied student success.

Shannon Veal's first-graders started using DreamBox the second week of December. Students can play it in the classroom and can access their personal accounts at home. She uses the software to supplement daily math lessons and can track how many hours a student spends on the game inside and outside the classroom and what curriculum they succeed or struggle with.

"They love it," Veal said. "Sometimes we keep the iPads during recess time and they want to get on it. We have three math groups in my room. One group meets with me. I have math tubs — tubs with math games in it that reinforce the skills, and then we rotate through three 20-minute sessions so every student works on DreamBox."

DreamBox assesses students when they first log in and will place them according to their level of understanding in a math program. With the ability to track student progress, the program frees the teacher from record keeping and provides them with individual student reports so their lesson planning can be more effective and give them more time with the class.

"It also challenges my kids," Veal said. "Some of them are at higher levels. We have students that are at the third grade and fourth grade curriculum. They have already passed the kindergarten, first grade and second grade curriculum. It will give them a few lessons and then test them and move them depending on their results. There are all kinds of teacher reports I can get. I can customize my instruction and see what standard students need help with and it keeps track of that for me."

The students earn points, certificates and coins on games like using numbers higher than 20. After accumulating coins, students can spend them at a carnival in the game.

"We can turn that off in the games and allow them to do that at home," Veal said. "I saw that some of them were spending too much in the carnival part and told them that if they met some goals that I set, I would allow them on Friday to spend some of their coins. I wanted to do that for the ones that don't have this home. They are learning about technology by using the iPads."

Students plugged in their headphones and started plugging in numbers, moving counting beads and selecting the correct answers in various math puzzles. "Right now we are working on time in class, but what they do on the iPad is different," Veal said. "When we were out of school last week, some of the students — not all — but about half of them logged on at home kept their math skills up. Because they also have put on headphones when they use them, they have become better listeners in class."

Funding for the software came from a state grant for school districts that rose the student dropout age to 18. Eminence Independent Schools Superintendent Buddy Berry, said the grant spending was strategic.

"We didn't want to spend it at the high school level where it may just be a Band-Aid and too late for the student," Berry said. "When we looked at test scores, we knew math was something we needed to work on and used the grant on our K-6 graders where it would make the most impact."

Funding for the iPads comes from the Eminence Educational Fund, which is made by possible by donations and money raised during their fundraiser. The annual dinner and silent auction will be on Saturday, Feb. 8. For more information call (502) 845-4788.

String Program gets donations

BY BRAD BOWMAN
editor@hclocal.com

Bruce Scott wanted to level the playing field for students who want to pursue music.

Scott, a retiree who plays cello in the Louisville Philharmonia Orchestra, took an instructional course on repairing violins. Last week, he donated two restored violins to Eastern Elementary Arts and Humanities teacher Amy Knight.

Equipped with new rosin and a case, the refurbished violins look new and are ready to play a reel.

Knight has two different groups that meet after school including students bussed from New Castle. One beginner group and an advanced group make up a 27-student orchestra program.

Violin is a popular instrument for students as many are interested in country music and the fiddle. Knight already has a student anticipating the violins, arrival — a student who may not have had the chance to play to otherwise.

"It's wonderful. Some kids they're forced to make a choice when they get older," Knight said. "If they want to play basketball or another sport there is funding, but parents have to provide for that. It opens up an opportunity if I have these instruments available, instead of them quitting after a couple of years of doing it (playing in the orchestra). They can play one of these instruments I have open."

When rental costs factor whether a student continues to study music, Scott's donated instruments can literally come into play.

"For some students orchestra is a clique," said Eastern Elementary Principal Sharon Bright. "Where they might have to work in the classroom to see results, in orchestra they know they know they are excellent and they enjoy it. To see them play and see their confidence is inspiring."

Scott donated three cellos to the program in 2012. Repairing violins for him, became something more than just something to do during retirement. It became a hobby.

Enrolling in a course with the National Association of Professional Band Instrument Repair Technicians (NAPBIRT) a non-profit international educational association that promotes the repair of band equipment, Scott learned how to fix violins, bought a few off of Ebay and put his tools to work. He replaced tuning pegs, bridges and refurbished fingerboards to make them playable again.

"Henry County isn't a wealthy county. There's not a lot of people in it. The string program here is very impressive to me," Scott said. "String programs, band or whatever, (music) cuts across classes, races or whatever separates. They come together and just play music. It's self-reinforcing. In history class, you don't know if you are any good or not, but if you are practicing violin you are going to know. There's some correlation too that kids who know music do better in math. Once you have that foundation in your life, you never lose it."

County Planning and Zoning argued violated a county ordinance. County ordinance prohibits anyone from living in a recreational vehicle, which differs from a mobile home. Bob and Ann Cook argued the dwelling is a mobile home.

“At the time the unit was manufactured there was an agency in the Commonwealth that issued stickers for RVs,” Ann Cook said. “It doesn’t have a recreational sticker it is registered as a house trailer. House trailer is another term for mobile homes.”

Henry County Planning and Zoning Administrator Jody Rucker came three years into the dispute after former Planning and Zoning Administrator Greg Derossett left the position.

“It is not a mobile home. A house trailer is a generic term,” Rucker said. “You can check with the county clerk on that.”

The Cooks filed several motions arguing that they were in compliance of living in the dwelling. They defended their position using several ordinances, which allowed them to live on the property while their house was being built. One filing states, “... The ordinance states that a temporary use permit may be issued at the discretion of the Planning Commission’s designated administrator for a period not to exceed 12 months. The temporary use permit may be renewed for additional three months showing good cause. A temporary permit may be issued to an applicant for health or age related circumstances for a period conterminous with the health or age related circumstances.”

Henry County Clerk Juanita Lashley requested microfilm from Frankfort, which indicated the dwelling’s definition for county purposes.

“The certificate of origin we got from Frankfort has it listed as a travel trailer,” Lashley said. “That means it is not a mobile home. When it was transferred in Kenton County our (the county) definition of an ‘H’ license plate for travel trailer is to be used on travel trailers that are: mounted on wheels, designed to give temporary living quarters for recreational camping or travel use and that are towed by another vehicle.”

The mobile home classification violation makes for one part of a case laden with counter complaints Robert and Ann Cook have against the county.

The complaints against county building permits precede Rucker and Derossett.

“The county was issuing and collecting money on permits that it had no right to do,” Bob Cook said. “John Logan had total knowledge of it and let Derossett do it.”

Letters issued from the Commonwealth of Kentucky Public Protection Cabinet, Department of Housing, Building and Construction Division of Building Code Enforcement signed by George E. Mann Deputy Commissioner and Chief Building Official and a letter from Environmental and Public Protection Cabinet dated July 2006 from Terry M. Slade, director of Division of Building Code Enforcement asked Planning and Zoning to change their building permit language to zoning permit. The letters stated that Henry County does not have an established building inspection program and should cease issuing building permits.

The permits required a change in language and wasn’t a matter of legality to Rucker.

“Nothing was illegal, we were just asked to change our language,” Rucker said. “This case was never about the money or collecting big fines. We just wanted them to abide to the ordinances.”

The Cooks’ original charges involved more than 365 ordinance violations and were condensed to 13 counts each. If they were found guilty, the Cooks could be charged no less than $10 per count and no greater than $500. The fines could range for as little as $130 each or a maximum $6,500 for 13 counts.

Both sides don’t argue the fine amounts, but opinions differ on the Cook’s acquittal.

“I think there may have been some confusion on the jury’s instructions,” said Rucker. “The jury I think was confused about whether it was per day or per occurrence and they weren’t willing to fine them that much. Once they moved out of the trailer they still had the fines over their head because the house still isn’t completed and it doesn’t have a roof on it.”

Ann Cook thought differently.

“One gentleman juror said they felt like the county had harassed us long enough,” Cook said.

Bob Cook is just glad it is over.

“I feel great about it and we plan to file a lawsuit in regards to harassment over the violations and other issues including handicap accessibility issues at the courthouse.”

At the last Henry County Fiscal Court meeting, Judge-Executive John Logan Brent asked a committee be formed to help Rucker with county ordinances.

“I would like to appoint a committee to work with Jody to work on some of our ordinances and how we want to handle things going forward,” Brent said. “In this particular case, we still got two or three different violations there so the question is: What are we going to do?”

Brent said the committee would do its due diligence in outstanding cases.

“The committee will work specifically with cases in the court and cases in the system that are ongoing cases that we can’t seem to get resolved,” Brent said. “In the time that I’ve been here, that may have been four or five times.”

According to Rucker,

He hopes to find sponsors to assume those costs, which he anticipates will be about $200 per movie. He also said the city is very close to raising the funds needed to purchase a quality projector. So far, about $750 has been collected, with another $300 needed.

2014 elections: New choices, new course

These past few weeks have been busy with making a lot of phone calls. The deadline to file for those running for office in Kentucky in the upcoming 2014 election ended at 4 p.m., Tuesday, Jan. 28. I had set the countdown app on my phone for that appointed day and hour. At that point, it was over. Those who were debating to run or not to run, those last minute calls encouraging someone to run, those who had already filed, waiting to see if they would have competition, all waited for

JON park
Henry County GOP Chairman

4 p.m. to arrive.

I was busy, and had lost track of time, when suddenly Handel's "Hallelujah Chorus" began to play out of nowhere. I looked to discover it was my phone's countdown clock announcing the filing deadline had passed. I had not chosen that song, it was a random song my smart-phone chose. Smart phone!

With the passing of the deadline, I am excited for Henry County. Competition is good. Differing ideas, debating the better course for the county, the Commonwealth, and the nation, all make us a better society.

I love that we live in a nation where "We The People" set the course from city hall, the county courthouse, the state House and to the White House.

For years, one of the reasons people in Henry County gave for being Democrat was that being Democrat afforded them a choice in elections. I am happy to report that is no longer the case. The Republican Party is growing in Henry County. The Henry County Local said the last county election, "Ended decades of Democratic dominance" in Henry County. That's a good thing. Choices.

We have seen how one party in control too long can be a problem. You need not look any further than the Kentucky State House that has been dominated for a century by one party. In the Federalist Papers #47, James Madison wrote, "The accumulation of all powers, legislative, executive, and judiciary, in the same hands, whether of one, a few, or many, and whether hereditary, self-appointed, or elective, may justly be pronounced the very definition of tyranny." A healthy exchange of ideas is good.

Reagan said, "The American people have turned out to be just what the forefathers thought they would be when they made them the final arbiter of political power: a light-house to the ship of state, a source of good judgment and common sense signaling a course to starboard. But you, who are not nautical-minded know that starboard is to the right, don't you?"

Choices!

How we budget to do more with less for our youth

Shortly after Gov. Beshear first took office in late 2007, he remarked that not only did he find the cupboard bare, it was actually gone.

It hasn't gotten any easier since then. Cumulative budget cuts over the last six years have reached $1.6 billion, the state government workforce has shrunk to its smallest size in 40 years and the list of needs continues to grow faster than the revenue coming in.

In taking on these challenges, Gov. Beshear and the General Assembly have looked for creative ways to do more with less. The two-year budget that Gov. Beshear presented – the last one of his administration – continues that trend.

While the House of Representatives' budget subcommittees are just starting their review, and a final product won't be signed into law until mid-April, there appears to be a growing consensus that the governor's proposal has a lot in its favor.

To begin with, it gives a much-needed boost to classroom

Rick Rand

funding for elementary and secondary education, something that hasn't happened in five years. At the same time, it adds more than $95 million for new textbooks, school-safety initiatives, teacher training and after-school services.

There are proposed raises for local school personnel, and state employees as well, and Gov. Beshear's budget calls for a sizeable wave of construction at our public postsecondary schools, a large part of which would be paid by the institutions themselves. These projects include a major upgrade of the Kentucky Community and Technical College System's campuses, something that hasn't happened since KCTCS was formed in the late 1990s.

There is also $60 million in the governor's budget for the "Bucks for Brains" program, which has already done so much over the last 15 years to increase research at our public four-year universities. This would be the first new funding since 2010.

At the other end of the educational spectrum, Gov. Beshear calls for a major expansion of preschool, making it possible for another 5,100 children to attend.

With our youth in mind, he also wants $110 million for the state's childcare-assistance program, which unfortunately had to be scaled back early last year because of a decline in federal funding. Restoring this money as he suggests would help 10,000 low-income families afford childcare so the parents can continue to work.

Other investments in the budget would continue life-saving cancer screenings; give 1,200 more people with intellectual or developmental disabilities the opportunity to stay in their community for treatment; and help 3,500 more people be served by Meals on Wheels.

There is funding to operate the state's fourth new veterans nursing home in Radcliff – it's scheduled to open in the summer of 2015 – and to complete a new veterans cemetery in Leslie County.

Some of the other big-ticket items in the governor's budget include $100 million for a major upgrade of broadband Internet service across the commonwealth. We're 46th among the states in this area, with nearly a fourth of our citizens not having access. This public-private partnership should help us improve those numbers.

As called for in the most far-reaching law adopted last year, the governor's budget also sets aside substantially more money for our public retirement systems. This begins fulfilling our commitment to put these plans for state and local government retirees on firmer financial footing.

The governor's six-year highway plan proposes an aggressive building schedule by the end of the decade. If all goes as he suggested, the Bert T. Combs Mountain Parkway will be four lanes and extended by 2020 at a cost of more than $750 million; the Louisville bridges project will be finished by late 2016; there will be new bridges over Land Between the Lakes; all of I-65 will be six lanes; and Northern Kentucky will be on its way to having a new bridge to complement the Brent Spence Bridge.

As positive as all of the projects I have mentioned are, there are some challenges along the way. Although moderate growth is projected for the next two years, many agencies will nonetheless face cuts again to cover new investments elsewhere, and for some, this means they would have 40 percent less to do their job than they had several years ago.

There has also been some concern about the level of borrowing. We will closely review this area in the House, keeping in mind Gov. Beshear's arguments that 70 percent of the total is for education; that the amount is comparable to previous budgets; and that the bonds are sold in a staggered schedule so that borrowing costs never exceed six percent of state spending, a general rule of thumb we have long followed.

Given the size of the budget – $68 billion over two years if you count every dollar that flows through state government – there is not enough room to cover every detail here, but hopefully you have a much clearer picture of what will be debated during the next two-and-a-half months.

Feel free to let me know any thoughts or concerns you may have, because I count on your input. My address is Room 366B, Capitol Annex, 702 Capitol Avenue, Frankfort, KY 40601. My email address is Rick.Rand@lrc.ky.gov.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Thank you for the extra care

My family and I want to thank the entire staff of Homestead Nursing Center for all the wonderful care and attention I have received since arriving here on Nov. 20.

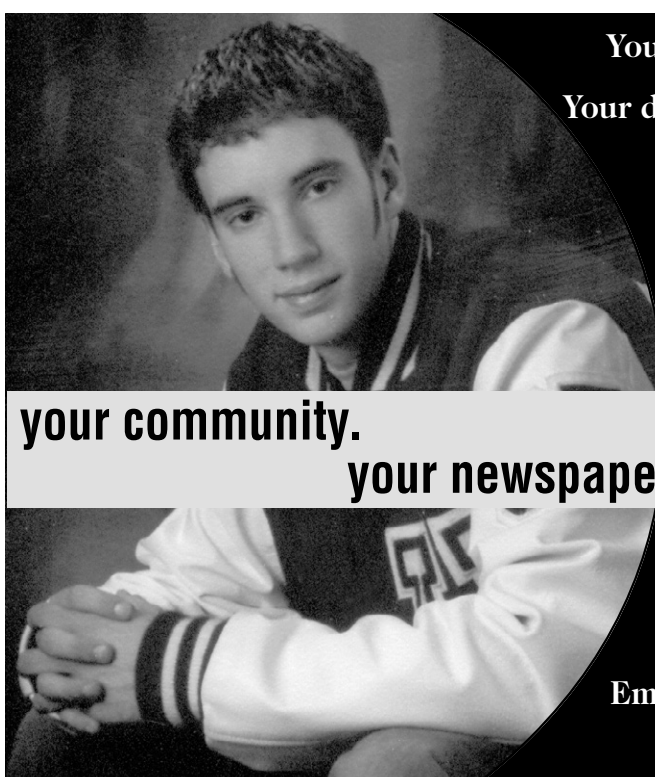

I have benefitted greatly from the professional attention of the medical staff, the therapists, the aides, those who look after the maintenance of the room and the cooks.

Perhaps more importantly, I have benefited from the many extra acts of individual kindness and from the understanding of a staff who have what all know to be a difficult and demanding job. The cheerfulness and good humor of all who work at Homestead make a real difference in the quality of my daily experience.

Gratefully,
Nell Magruder Pollard,
William F. Pollard
and William F. Pollard, Jr.

Women should protect their hearts

Heart disease is the No. 1 cause of illness and death for North American women and kills more women than all forms of cancer combined. February is Women's Heart Health Month, and it is a great time for women to start taking better care of their hearts all year around.

It's important to know your personal risk for heart disease and family history. Common risk factors for heart disease include elevated blood pressure, high cholesterol levels, smoking, diabetes, a sedentary lifestyle and being overweight or obese. Obesity increases women's risk for at least five leading causes of death including heart disease, stroke, arteriosclerosis (hardening of the arteries) and some types of cancer. Two of the best ways to improve your heart health is to change your diet and to exercise.

You have many different options to change your diet for the better. Most of them include incorporating more vegetables and fruits and fiber sources into your diet. The U.S. Department of Agriculture's "MyPlate" encourages people to fill half of their plates with fruits and vegetables. Fiber not only helps prevent heart disease but also can help prevent diabetes, manage weight and improve digestion. Good sources of fiber are beans, barley and oats.

You can also start incorporating more Mediterranean meals into your diet. People in Mediterranean countries tend to have lower rates of heart disease because they eat a diet rich in monounsaturated fat and linolenic acid. They consume more olive oil, fish, fruits and vegetables.

High blood pressure can be a major contributing factor to heart disease and arteriosclerosis. If you have high blood pressure, learning to control it can greatly reduce your risk of developing heart disease. The Dietary Approaches to Stop Hypertension (DASH) diet has been proven to significantly lower blood pressure. This diet involves limiting your salt intake and consuming plenty of fruits, vegetables, low-fat dairy products, fiber and lean meats. More information about the DASH diet is available on the National Heart, Lung and Blood Institute's website, <http://www.nhlbi.nih.gov/health/health-topics/topics/dash/followdash.html>.

More than two-thirds of Kentuckians report that they are "not active" and 71 percent of women in the state report being sedentary. You can become more heart healthy by incorporating more movement into your day. That doesn't necessarily mean you have to spend hours at the gym. If you lead a sedentary lifestyle, you can start small by doing things like taking the stairs instead of the elevator, parking further away from a store entrance, playing tag with your kids or walking around your neighborhood. Every bit of movement helps.

If you are interested in a program to get you more active come visit our "Living Well" program that will be meeting every Friday in February before our full session begins in March. We meet at 10:30 a.m. at the Henry County Extension Office. For more information call us at 845-2811.

Educational programs of the Kentucky Cooperative Extension serve all people regardless of race, color, age, sex, religion, disability, or national origin.

PUBLIC records

Editor's note: The Henry County Local will now report property transfers, marriages and divorces. Police reports released from local police departments will also be included with grand jury indictments and district court records will be omitted. Charges or citations reported to the Henry County Local do not imply guilt. That is determined by the courts. Information on this page is public information. Names will not be withheld by request for any reason.

200 YEARS AGO IN HENRY COUNTY

1864: Johnston escapes Confederate prison

Isaac Forbis, as sheriff of Henry County, and Adam Mowry and Andrew Mitchell, his sureties, each posted a $10,000 bond assuring that Sheriff Forbis would duly and faithfully collect and account for all taxes and arrearages of taxes and interest which are or may become due according to the law. The bond was posted on Feb. 7, 1814.

At the February term of court, the County Court appointed Edmund Searcy to adjust the scales and weights at Sullinger's Warehouse according to the law. On Feb. 12, 1814, Mr. Searcy reported to the court that he had visited Sullinger's Warehouse and "found about 1,800 weight of good stone weights – legally marked – and accurately weighed and the scales, to all appearance, sufficient to weigh any thing that may be delivered."

175 YEARS AGO

On a motion by James Sheets at the February term of court, Barton Jewell, John J. Berry, George Clark and Captain Martinie, or any three of them, after being sworn, are appointed to view and mark an alteration in the road leading from Port Royal to Smith's Mill. Beginning on the line between said Sheets and Mrs. Jividen and running about 300 yards on a south course so as to intersect the old road. The committee was sworn on Feb. 27, 1839; however, no report of their findings was included.

150 YEARS AGO

John W. Meek and Willis E. Henderson, his guardian and also the administrator of the estate of C. T. Henderson, settled the accounts of guardianship and administrator on Feb. 1, 1864. On Feb. 9, 1864, President Lincoln sat for several photographs, one of which appears on the U.S. five dollar bill. Feb. 9, 1864 was also the date of the largest and most dramatic escape of the war. Union prisoners dug their way out of the infamous Libby Prison in Richmond, Va. One of the captured Union soldiers who managed to escape was Capt. I. N. Johnston, of Pleasureville. He chronicled the story of the escape in his book, "Four Months in Libby." Of the 109 Union officers who escaped that day, 48 were recaptured (including their leader Colonel Thomas E. Rose), two drowned and 59 reached Federal lines, one of which was Captain Johnston. The living conditions in Libby Prison were exceeded in infamy only by those at Andersonville.

125 YEARS AGO

On Feb. 8, 1889, New Castle trustees appointed G. W.

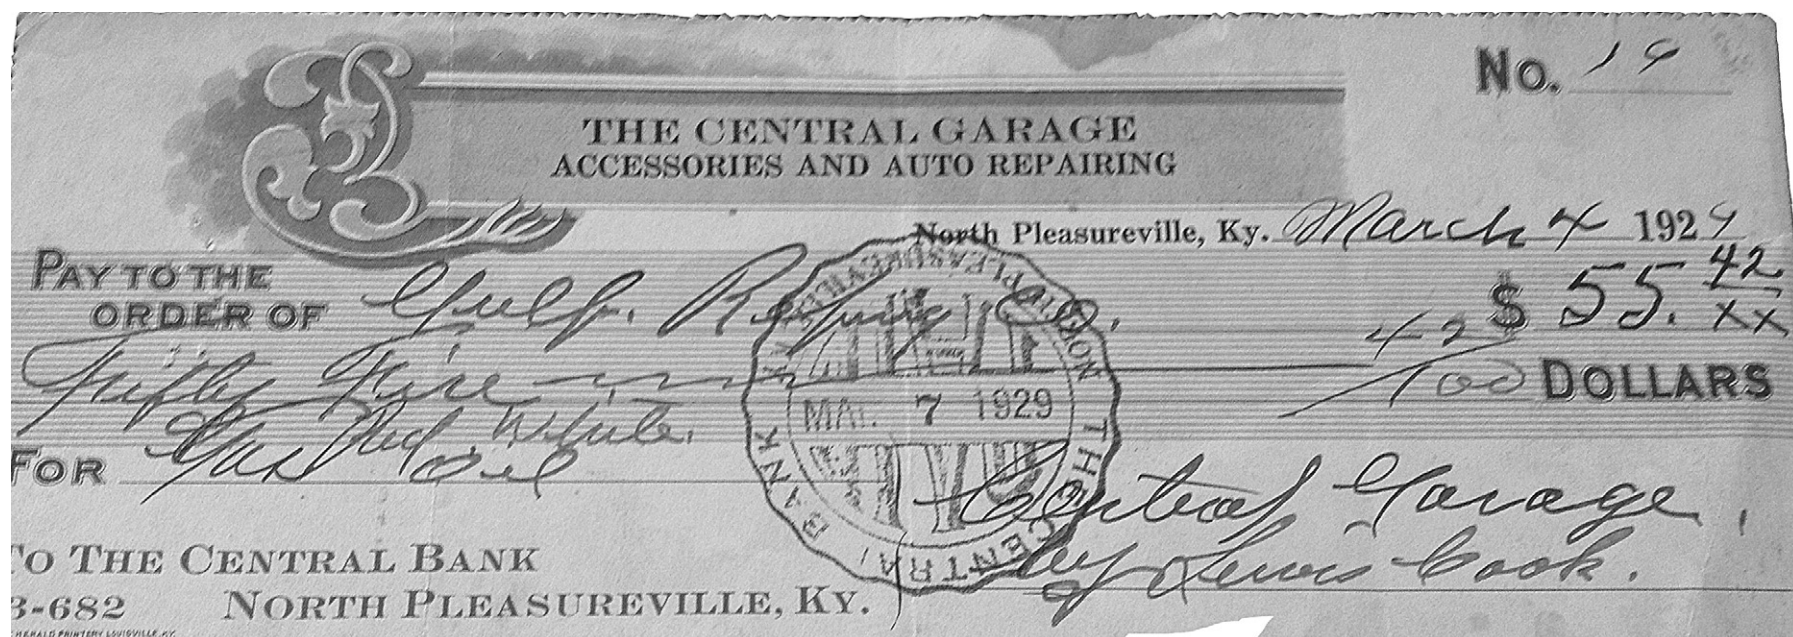

Harper marshal of the town. Henry County Court Clerk W. W. Turner swore Harper in Feb. 9, 1889.

J. S. Satchwell, along with his surety, P. B. Morse, posted a bond with Henry County Court, which grants him the right and privilege to perform marriage ceremonies. The bond was posted Feb. 6, 1889.

100 YEARS AGO

William Thompson appointed S. T. Douthitt, his power of attorney, to release a lien of $325.00 that was retained in the deed of Feb. 3, 1913, to George Smith.

PLEASUREVILLE'S TWO CITIES

SUBMITTED

The check above points to a time in Pleasureville's history when the city was divided into North and South Pleasureville by the railroad tracks. When the Louisville and Nashville system was built a town formed around it one mile south with a depot. The original post office moved there in 1874 and another post office located in North Pleasureville was built in 1879. The two towns were joined in 1962 but both post offices functioned separately until the 1960s.

reeled off seven consecutive points to take a 22-14 lead.

The lead stayed at eight points for most of the rest of the quarter until Gallatin got three straight free throws to lead 31-20 with 1:27 left in the half. James Wundrak scored inside to cut the lead to 31-22 at 1:21 but Gallatin answered with a 3-point-er to go up 34-22 with just 34 seconds left in the second period.

Austin Young scored on a 3-point play with 17.2 seconds left and Dakota Estes hit one of two free throws after being fouled on a put back attempt with just .8 seconds left before halftime to pull the Cats within eight at 34-26.

The Wildcats came out for the third period with more energy and started to chip away at the lead. Dakota Estes' baseline drive made it 37-34 with 3:21 left.

Gallatin County got a 3-point play to extend the lead back to six with 3:03 to go before the final period before Gavin Jameson's rebound basket and Estes' 3-point play cut the lead to one with 1:20 left.

Gallatin County hit a free throw with 14.8 remaining to lead by two at the end of the period.

Henry County missed an opportunity to tie with 7:45 left in the game before Gallatin hit a free throw to go up by three points with 6:58 left.

Jameson then got fouled while scoring in the paint and hit his free throw to get the Cats even for the first time since early in the game.

Gallatin then hit a free throw to go up one point before Austin Young hit a 16-foot jumper to give the Cats a one-point lead.

The visitors turned it over on their next possession but the Cats failed to capitalize and Gallatin made them pay with two free throws at 5:44 to regain the lead for good.

Gallatin scored again on a layup after an empty possession for the Cats to go up three with 5:20 left. Estes pulled the Cats back within one at 3:53 on a put back but from that point Gallatin outscored the Wildcats 12-5 to pull away for the eight-point win.

"Every time we would make a run or had a chance to make a run, we missed a free throw," Welch said. "That was the story of the game."

"Dakota came off the bench in the second half and did a good job of attacking the rim," Welch continued. "Gavin did a good job. He came in and brought us a lot of energy on the boards."

When asked if he thought the team lacked energy in the first half Welch said, "January is a long month but great teams come in and give good effort every night. If we want to be a great team we have to be consistent with our effort."

GREG WOODS/LOCAL

Brad West goes in against the tall timber in Henry County's 61-53 loss to Gallatin County on Jan. 28.

Welch second-guessed himself for continuing to press after getting the lead back.

"Maybe we should have backed off the press because we sent them to the line a lot but the press sparked the emotion and energy and we wanted to ride that as long as we could," Welch said.

Henry County dropped to 15-6 with the loss while Gallatin County improved to 10-5.

HCHS 72 Williamstown 51

The Wildcats made the long trip to Williamstown Friday night hoping to get back on the winning track against a Demon team that has one of the top scorers in the 8th Region in David Jump.

According to Welch Jump had averaged 40 points per game over the last three games coming into the contest with his team.

The coaching staff decided to put Dakota Estes on Jump and have Estes deny him the ball as much as possible.

The strategy paid off according to Welch.

"Dakota held him to eight points while he was guarding him," Welch said. "It was as good a defensive effort as I've seen in a long time. Dakota has the ability to change the game with his defense."

The Wildcats played a contrasting style to the Demons, who played half court zone defense, while the Cats went with full court pressure. The Cats defensive scheme won out in the end.

"Landon hit a couple of big 3-pointers in the first quarter and they struggled offensively with our pressure and not letting Jump get a lot of good looks," Welch said. "We led by as much as ten points in the first period."

The defensive pressure continued to pay dividends in the second quarter and the passing of Chase Howard played a key role offensively for the Cats.

"Chase had several good passes against their zone which got us easy looks," Welch said. "We were up by 17 at half-time."

In the second half the Cats' lead continued to grow until they led by 34 points and Welch emptied his rather large bench.

"We were able to let the younger guys get some minutes in the fourth quarter. "We ended up playing 18 guys in this game."

While Estes' defense on Jump was important, Welch felt that he got several key contributions.

"Chase ended up with seven assists," he said. "He really tore their zone apart with his passing. Robbie Cruse did a good job of finding the seams in the defense and getting good looks behind the zone. Landon was 3-5 against their zone which really loosened it up to create space inside."

Asked if he felt like his team had broken out of its mini-slump, Welch said, "We feel like we got a solid week of school in and got back in a good routine. Everybody has to deal with the weather but all athletes like to get in a routine."

GREG WOODS/LOCAL

Austin Young, left, and Dakota Estes set a trap against Gallatin County's Chase O'Conner in Henry County's loss to Gallatin County. The loss dropped Henry County's district record to 5-3.

as she found an opening on the wing against the Lady Bearcats' zone defense. She had 11 of the 13 points in the run.

But Beth Haven came back to score the final seven points of the half to make it a one-point game going into the locker room.

West had 15 points at halftime and it was obvious that she was the focal point of the team talk for Beth Haven during halftime. The Lady Bearcats came out in the same zone defense but they made sure they had someone near West at all times in the second half and it led to difficulty for the middle schooler. Beth Haven was able to shut her out the rest of the way.

But the half started positively for the Warriors as Brooklyn Moore got open for a 12-footer to give the Warriors a 22-19 lead.

But Beth Haven went on a 9-0 run through the next six minutes to lead 28-22. Jasmine Adams scored the final three points of the period for the Warriors to pull the other team within three points going into the final period of play.

Claxton got the Warriors off to a good start with a steal and a layup just 28 seconds into the final period but Beth Haven answered with four free throws over the next 90 seconds to lead 32-27.

Docktor got a put back at 5:39 to make it a three-point game again. The deficit was still three points with 1:18 to go but the Bearcats got two free throws at that point to go up by five.

After Docktor hit a free throw to make it 37-33, Beth Haven closed out the game with good free throw shooting down the stretch to pull away for the nine-point win.

talked about the improved offensive showing for the Warriors.

"The wing shot has become Tavi's shot," he said. "She hit some against Henry and West Jessamine, too. Having Shelby back is really helping, too. She brings energy and plays really hard. She's our best ball handler and she creates shots for others."

"I've been trying to get Madison to drive more and I was happy to see her do that," Adair continued. "She also had a couple of offensive rebounds."

Adair was also happy with the play of others who did not contribute as much scoring.

"Marissa and Brooklyn really hustled," Adair said. "Marissa had a nice drive and dish and Brooklyn has really improved since the beginning of the season."

Adair was still disappointed that the team could not hold on for their second win of the year.

"We let an eight-point lead slip away right before halftime and that really hurt us," he said. "We talked at halftime about not getting satisfied. It was our first halftime lead of the season. We came out and had a few turnovers in the third period that really hurt us."

But the most important difference in the game may have been the defensive adjustment on West.

"They made a defensive adjustment to take away the wing shot for Tavi, and we are just too young to handle making in-game adjustments," Adair said.

the last shot of the period and scored when Armstrong got a put back at the buzzer. Armstrong was fouled on the play and hit the free throw to give the Warriors a 17-13 lead going into the second period.

Coach Chris Nethery thought the team's game plan was working at this point.

"We didn't want to take bad shots," he said. "They get out in transition on bad shots, so we tried to limit bad shots which we did in the first half."

The Warriors lost some momentum to begin the second period when the Rebels started with two layups to tie the score. The Warriors called a quick timeout to get back on track. Owen took the lead with a free throw at 5:59, but Trevor Payton scored inside to get the Warriors back on top seventeen seconds later.

The teams traded baskets over the next two minutes before Owen County went on a 5-0 run to take a four-point lead with 3:38 left in the half.

Golden scored on a 13-foot turnaround jumper with 3:03 to stop the run and the teams traded scores the rest of the way to give the Rebels a 31-27 lead going into the locker room.

"We did a good job of controlling the tempo in the first half," Nethery said. "But we gave up too many offensive rebounds and that hurt us."

The Rebels came out of the locker room on fire and went on 14-2 run to open the second half. The first two baskets came on a drive by Williams who then stole the ball and streaked down court for a slam-dunk. Dixie then hit a 14-footer before the Rebels scored the next 10 points to lead 47-29 with 3:48 left in the quarter.

The Warriors finally got some footing and managed to finish the period on an 8-2 run to trail by 10 going into the final period.

Nethery saw the torrid start in the second half by the Rebels as the key to the game.

"We did a good job in the first half of controlling the tempo, but in the third period we didn't do that and it killed us," Nethery said. "That was the game."

The Warriors were able to cut further into the lead to start the final period when Cornelius Sanford's layup made it 51-43 but Owen County's Hunter Trenary answered with a 3-pointer to extend the lead back to 11 and Jarrod Ball hit a layup to make it 56-43 with 5:34 to go.

The Warriors never got closer than 11 points after that as the Rebels extended the lead back out to 17 before a couple of late baskets by Payton and Sanford set the final margin at 12 points.

"The whole game was won or lost in the third period. They came out and punched us in the face and we didn't respond well to that."

The Warriors fell to 2-15 on the season while Owen County improved to 11-6.

The Warriors' game with Carroll County was moved to Feb. 17 due to the Panthers' trip to the All A State Tournament.

game and the Cats converted those steals into points.

The Warriors' Tavana West broke the run with a pull up jumper at the foul line with 4:18 to go.

The Lady Cats added three more points on a lay up by Haley Bramblett and a free throw by Kim Barmore to make it 13-2 at the end of the first period.

Both teams struggled to score in the second period as Eminence's zone defense troubled the Lady Cats while the Warriors continued to have difficulty with the Lady Cats' tough defense. Barmore scored on a put back for the Cats to open the scoring in the period before Colleen Coomes got on the board with an inside bucket to make it 17-2.

At 5:46 Clark got a steal and lay up to make it 19-2 before Jasmine Adams hit a 12-footer for the Warriors to make it 19-4.

Aleah Tuggle added three free throws in the final four minutes of the half to make the score 22-4.

In the third period both teams improved offensively with the Lady Cats scoring 17 points and Eminence scoring 9. West got hot on the right wing against the Lady Cats' zone and hit three jumpers from 17 feet to tally six points in the period. Barmore had six points to lead the Cats in the period.

In the final period the Lady Cats added 11 points and the Warriors added two on a put back by Madison Docktor to set the final score.

Gilley thought his team's mental approach to the game was good.

"I thought our starters came out doing things to make us better and keep us going in a positive direction," Gilley said. "I thought we did a good job of getting in the passing lanes defensively. I thought we looked to get in transition better and put ourselves in position to pass ahead. We need to do that to get some easy buckets."

Gilley also had praise for the Warriors.

"I thought Eminence's defense was better," he said. "They made us take some shots we weren't necessarily looking for. I thought the defense was much improved considering how young they are."

Walton-Verona 56 HCHS 38

The Lady Cats traveled to Walton Saturday afternoon to take on the Lady Bearcats and fell by 18 in a game that went south quickly.

"We scored the first two points of the game and then they scored the next 16," Gilley said. "We didn't score another basket in the first quarter."

The Lady Cats found

some offensive firepower in the second period when they scored 14 points but they were not able to stop Walton as they put up 25 points to lead 41-16 at the half.

"Walton's press bothered us a little," Gilley said. "It was not our guards for the most part. It was when they were trapped and had to pass the ball to our other players. We turned it over more in the half court and we took some hurried shots."

Things did not improve much until the fourth period when the Cats outscored the Lady Bearcats 13-4.

"We didn't rebound well," Gilley said. "There really is no aspect of the game that we were excited about. We did hit our free throws okay, but we were in foul trouble all night long. Both Cheyenne Clark and Sophie Hughes had four fouls before the fourth period."

Gilley believes his team has to get a new mindset quickly.

"I think we have to learn to expect good things before they will ever happen," he said. "We made our schedule tougher in February to get ready for the district tournament, but we are going to have to react better to that or it won't help."

EHS GIRLS' BASKETBALL

Busy week ends with close loss to Beth Haven

BY GREG WOODS
sports@hclocal.com

The Eminence girls' basketball team had a busy week, playing four games in five days last week. The week started with a 43-8 loss at KCD on Jan. 27 followed by a 60-13 loss at West Jessamine. On Thursday the Warriors hosted cross-county rivals Henry County and fell 50-15 and ended with a 42-33 loss to Beth Haven on Friday that showed that the Warriors' offensive game is improving heading into the final weeks of the season.

KCD 43 EHS 8

The Bearcats got off to a strong start and were ahead 14-4 at the end of the first period.

The Warriors' defense improved in the second and third quarters but they could not find the offense to get back in the game and KCD pulled away for the 35-point win.

"It was closer than the score indicated," Coach Zach Adair said. "We were stronger with the ball as a team. We didn't let them take the ball from us as easily. We still had trouble scoring, but I see progress."

Adair likes the improvement he is seeing in Lyndsay Craigmyle.

"Lyndsay has really stepped up down low for us by grabbing rebounds and going after loose balls."

West Jessamine 60 EHS 13

The Warriors faced West Jessamine on the road Jan. 28 and found the going difficult as turnovers hurt their chances.

"They started in a diamond press," Adair said. "We broke it some by passing it up the floor which was a first for us, but then we started to have unforced turnovers that didn't come because of the press."

Adair saw offensive improvement in Tavana West.

"Tavi shot the ball really well," he said. "She hit a couple of three's and another jumper. She's doing better and plays hard for the most part throughout the game."

Beth Haven 42 EHS 33

The Warriors had their best offensive showing of the season in a nine-point loss at home against Beth Haven.

After falling behind 4-0 the Warriors battled back to take a 6-4 lead. West hit a 12-footer to start the run before Shelby Claxton scored on a drive to the basket. West finished the run with a jumper just inside the arc.

Beth Haven scored the next three points to retake the lead with 2:48 left in the opening period. Madison Docktor hit one of two free throws with 1:36 to tie the score heading into the second period.

Beth Haven got a 3-pointer just 20 seconds into the second period before Eminence went on a 13-2 run to take an eight-point lead at 20-12 with 1:49 left before halftime. West had three 3-pointers in the run

When the Henry County Wildcats hosted District 30 rivals Gallatin

County on Jan. 28, poor free throw shooting by the host Wildcats was their ultimate downfall. Henry County hit just 10 of 25 free throws for 40 percent while the visiting Wildcats hit 24-32 for 75 percent.

"We missed 15 free throws and lost by eight points," Coach Enoch Welch said. That tells the whole story."

Henry County opened the game with a 3-pointer by Chase Howard with 6:18 to go in the first period. After a Gallatin County layup made it 3-2, Landon New hit a 15-foot baseline jumper to put the Cats up 5-2. Gallatin County tied the score with a 3-pointer of their own at 3:39 and the teams played evenly until Gallatin went on a 6-2 run to end the period and lead 15-12.

Brad West opened the scoring in the second period with a baseline drive to make it 15-14 before Gallatin County

The Henry County Lady Cats traveled to Warsaw on Jan. 29 to take on the Gallatin County Lady Wildcats and fell 58-37. The Lady Cats trailed by just nine points at the break but a slow start in the third quarter sealed the game for Gallatin County.

In the first period the Lady Wildcats jumped out to a 13-5 lead but Henry County came back in the second period and played them evenly. The Lady Wildcats were only able to add one point to their lead going into the locker room.

"We missed several shots in the paint on put backs," Coach Todd Gilley said. "We were working very hard but the shots didn't go in. We also made some turnovers that were unforced because we threw it to get rid of it."

Gilley thought depth helped the Lady Cats in the second period.

"We were a little deeper and they showed some fatigue and we didn't," Gilley said. "We started to find some gaps against their pressure. We were able to get the ball in scoring position because of that."

Gilley was disappointed that his team didn't build on the momentum of the second period as his team fell farther behind at the start of the third period.

"We forgot to start the second half," he said. "You would have thought that after having some success in the first half that we would have started better in the third, but it didn't happen. We consistently got beat up the floor in transition. We basically lost in the first few minutes of the third quarter."

The Lady Cats had one last run in them but it was too little, too late.

"Early in the fourth period we cut it to eight points but they pushed it back out in the end," Gilley said.

Gilley was pleased with his guards' ability to handle Gallatin's pressure.

"Our point guards did a good job taking care of the ball but our other players did not," he said.

Gilley felt that Cheyenne Clark and Ashton Pennington stood out in the game.

"I thought Cheyenne did a great job of keeping her composure while Gallatin was putting pressure on her when she had the ball," he said. "Ashton did a good job again of putting herself in good scoring positions at the correct times."

Third time not a charm for Warriors

Jalen Dixie-Led Warriors with 19 points vs. Owen County.

The Eminence Warriors found themselves in an unusual situation when they hosted the Owen County Rebels on Jan. 29. The game was the third straight in which the Warriors and Rebels had faced off because of a scheduling fluke and bad weather. The Rebels won a regular season matchup on Jan. 16 by a score of 57-44. They defeated the Warriors 72-71 in the first round of the All A Classic on Jan.

22 and then came back to Eminence after both teams lost games due to weather cancellations to play again a week later.

In the third matchup the Warriors hoped to change the pattern of the first two games by getting off to a good start. They did just that in playing the Rebels tough in the opening period. But the Rebels prevailed 68-56.

Owen County got up 5-2 early before the Warriors scored eight straight points to take a 10-5 lead. Shelby Armstrong had six of the 10 points in the run while Mitchell Golden and Jalen Dixie each added a bucket.

The two teams played evenly the rest of the period as Owen came back within one point at 12-11 with 2:21 left.

After Dixie increased the lead back out to three points with a 15-foot turnaround jumper, Owen County's Carson Williams scored inside to make it a one point game again with 35 seconds left.
